THE EXILED BISHOP OF HAVANA.

Arrival in New York-Account of His Expulsion-Arrogance of the Cuban Volun-

The steamship Missourl arrived yesterday from Havana, with a large number of passengers, among whom was Bishop Martinez, of Bavana, accompanied by his secretary, Abbe Partu, who left this port a fortnight ago to take charge of his diocese. On the 13th instant he arrived at Havana, duly furnished with Episcopal authorities from the Cabinet at Madrid, but was refused permission to go ashore.

Bishop Martinez states that he was ordained Bishop of Havana in 1864, and was accused of favoring the insurrection because he desired to regard all his flock with equal solicitude. He was on intimate terms with Captain-General Dulce, but was disliked by Lersundi—Dulce's successor—because he refused to have the church bells rung in any cities or villages which church bells rung in any cities or villages which Lersundi might enter, this being an honor only accorded to an archbishop or bishop.

Bishop Martinez obeyed the summons to attend the Ecumenical Council, and at its close remained some time at Marseilles, whence he he came via Paris and Liverpool to Boston. On learning that he was en route to Havana, the Spanish authorities there communicated with Madrid on the grainest, and colors were sent Madrid on the subject, and orders were sent them to take the votes of the volunteer com-manders as to whether he should be allowed to land. This was done, and seven out of ten voted against allowing him to enter Cuba.

On arriving at Havana the Bishop was in-formed by one of the Captain-General's aldes-de-camp that if he would remain in Cuba he must go on board the frigate Saragossa, where must go on board the frigate Saragossa, where he would be treated as a prisoner. He demanded this intimation in writing, when the aid withdrew and did not return. The next visit he received was from the chief the municipality, who was barely civil. The Bishop made the same request to him, and with the same result. He then addressed a formal protest to Captain-General Valmaseda. Numbers of the clergy and laity came on board and sympathized with him. Finding that he could not land except as a prisoner, he returned in the Missouri to this city.

Bishop Martinez says he will not return to Cuba by permission of the military who rule that island; and that he learned that placards were posted in Havana, wherein the volunteers declared they would walk over his body before they would allow him to enter the city. A quibble was raised on account of his passport not being countersigned in New York; but it was too palpably a pretext to deserve any consideration.—N. Y. Tribune, to-day.

INDIAN ATROCITIES.

The Bloody Apaches—The Condition of Affairs in Arizona. A correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce, writing from Tucson, Arizona Territory, March 26, says:-I beg of you, for the sake of suffering humanity, to allow me to make a few statements concerning the deplorable situation in which the people of this unfortunate Territory find them-selves at this time, owing to the inability of our Government to protect us from the Apache

Within the last three years we have had not one day of peace, and for the last six months scarcely one hour has passed that some citizen has not been butchered by the Apaches. We, of course, look to our Government for protection, but, instead of getting it, we have got nothing but promises until within the last six months, when our new commanding officer was sent out to take command of this department, with orders to make his headquarters somewhere in the Territory; but, for some cause, not known to any person but himself, he makes a flying trip through the Territory, reports everything quiet, goes to San Francisco, and asks his superior to allow him to establish bis headquarters at Wilmington, Cal. At the same time that he is occupied in doing this the Apaches have murdered more than twenty-five men and taken property to the amount of at least fifty thousand dollars. I have lived in this Territory ever since it belonged to the United States, and can safely say that at no time since 1846 have the Indians been so bad as at present.

Why our Government has very sparingly ad-ministered to our wants in this Territory we have always been at a loss to know. We pay our taxes. We try to earn an honest living, and why should we not expect to be treated as citizens of other Territories are? We demand it as our right to be protected from Indians, and shall continue to do so.

Our Territory is not the barren desert that a great many people think it is; but, to the conrary, is one of the finest stock raising countries on the globe, and as for mineral wealth Arizona cannot be surpassed. We have within fifty miles of this town mines of gold, silver, and copper enough to employ five thousand miners fitably, if we had the Indians out of the way. Would any other government on the earth (that had the means) allow a few thousand miserable savages to murder its citizens without doing something to protect them?

It appears that our Government has come to the conclusion that if they send us a few soldiers and disbursing officers and scatter a handful of dollars among us, we should be perfectly satisfied. This is a mistake. We do not ask for money. We ask for the Indians to be taken out of the country, and we will find the money for the job, and plenty of it too. If the Indians were driven hence, we would be satisfied to take our chances for the rest.

FIRE AT NEWARK, DEL.

Storehouse and Post Office Burned. About three o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the storehouse occupied by John D. Richardson, at Newark, Del., which, not being discovered for a short time, soon enveloped the whole building, and caused its entire struction, as well as that of a dwelling adjoining. Both were frame structures, owned by John Miller, the postmaster of the town, who lived in one of them, and occupied a portion of the other as the post office, the greater part of it being leased to Mr. Richardson as a store.

Upon the alarm being given, the citizens turned out promptly and organized a line with buckets to cass water upon the flames. found impossible, however, to save either the buildings or any of their contents, except the household goods. The whole stock of store goods, and the letters, mail-bags, and other ost office matter, were completely destroyed, ogether with valuable papers belonging to Mr.

The fire is supposed to have been caused by he explosion of a coal-oll lamp which was left burning in the store, though this is not certain. Mr. Richardson's loss on his store goods is estimated at $4500, of which $4000 is insured Mr. Miller had $1500 on his dwelling and $1000 on his storchouse. All these insurances are in the Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company of Wilmington.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

EVENING TRLEGRAPH OFFICE, Saturday, April 22, 1971.

There is a very lively demand for money on collaterals from the brokers, who are wide awake in taking advantage of the easy money market to force a brisk trade. This they have been doing during the past three weeks, the business in that period being unprecedentedly large, and so far indicating no signs of abatement. Prices also, as a consequence, are unreasonably high, and will go higher if the brokers can effect it. The excited condition of the stock market reflects itself on the loan market, and the demand to day is very heavy for call loans at five per cent. There is very little paper making or offering, however, and the market appears to be made over to the speculative dealers. Rates are ea y and nominal.

Government bonds are quiet but steady. The New York prices have falled to reach us this morning, but the impression on the street is that they are ½ off in sympathy with gold. The stock market continues excited and strong, with a heavy business done in the Rail-road shares. Sales of City 6s, new issues, at Reading Railroad sold largely, but was somewhat unsettled, selling up to 55% and down to 55% closing at 55%. Sales of Pennsylvania at 66½ 665%; Northern Central at 42½ 43; Philadelphia and Erie at 29@20½ b. o.; North Pennsylvania at 47; Minehill at 53%; Lehigh Valley at 61½, and Camden and Amboy at 119½@120. In Canal shares the only activity was in Schuylkill, which sold freely at 18½ b. o.

In Bank stocks there was a firm feeling, with sales of Mechanics' at 34 and Commercial at 67.

Until further notice the Stock Board will adjourn after the first session on Saturdays.
